LARGEST TEMPORARY OUTDOOR ART EXHIBITION IN THE SOUTH

Now in its eighth year, the linear gallery is free to the public and represents artists from across Atlanta, the nation, and the world in a variety of mediums: sculpture, murals, dance, music, theater, photography, and more. In 2016, over 1.7 million people visited the Eastside Trail, and Atlanta BeltLine trail users are at the forefront of this year's exhibition. Art pieces seek to enhance the visitor's sense of discovery and adventure through street-style performances, art-making along the trails, interactive art, and works that embody navigating urban space as an experience as well as a place.

NEWLY OPENED SEGMENTS ALLOW FOR MORE EXHIBITION SPACE

We are thrilled to include four miles of added gallery space on the newly finished Westside Trail and Eastside Trail extension! Previously, these interim hiking trails featured Art on the Atlanta BeltLine exhibits. Now, several miles of paved, multi-use trails are complete and open, making Art on the Atlanta BeltLine more accessible to all.

ALL ARTISTS ARE INVITED TO SUBMIT PROPOSALS FOR ART ON THE ATLANTA BELTLINE

Atlanta BeltLine, Inc. commissions over 100 artists in contribution to and support of the arts industry, which has a $2.2 billion impact in Georgia. Artists submit proposals every spring and undergo a juried process to determine selection for the annual exhibition. Artists interested in submitting for the fall 2018 show should check art.beltline.org in early 2018, and follow the exhibition on social media.
